The Store Will Be Open Until 10 O'clock Saturday Nights

Our Monte Carlo Coats at $7.50

Have been exceedingly popular this winter.

Made of good kersey and their full length, 30 inches, has done much to make them de irable.

Pleated back and velvet collar and cuffs.

Demand his been so great that our supply was almost exhausted and consequently we've said little about them for a week or so. New coats and cold weather both came in together. $7.50.

20-inch Jackets, Worth $15, for $10.

All-Wool Kerseys, in castor, tan these short snug fitting garments to the longer co ts and these are finely tailored throughout.

Some made with the slot seam and all of them intended to sell for $15,00, and as far as we know they have sold for that price. We have fixed a special price of $10.00 each on them. The present cold spap should run them out quickly. $10.00.

An All-Wool and black. Many people prefer Kersey Coat for $5.98

Hardly necessary to say that we bought these coats much below the regular price for all-wool garments. The tailoring is strictly first class, coat lined with good satin, has flared sleeves and a velvet collar.

Among the New Furs

Nearly everything in furs this winter is trimmed with tails, some with the big brushy ones, others small. Not many animal heads seen. Our stock was se ected with great care and whether the price mark is high or low you're getting a full value.

Boas, with Muffs to Match, for Women.

$1.69 for a boa of B ack Coney, with with two large brushy tails. $3.98 for a wide Sable or Black Hare

$5 to $10 for able or Black Marten Scirls. Two lar e brushy tails or six small ones.

Boas up to $32.00 for genuine Fox and Black Martens. You can get a muff to match these scarfs as ow as 98c and from that up to >17.50.

Fur Sets for Children. Previous to this showing of ours there's never been such an assortment of chi.dren's furs in Richmond.

For the very little folks from 1 to 4 years old we have:

Imitation Wite Angora Sets for $1.00. Low priced bu GOOD. Ling Fur Sets that wear spiendidly, $1.50.

REAL Angera Set, long white fur, well fined $2.98.

Real Angora and Steel Time! Sets, neck piece satin lined, large muff $3.98.

For older chi'dren up to 12 and 15 years of age we have:

Genume squirrel sets, large muff and saturation scart, for $3.98.

Fox Sets, with large muff and boa, with tall and chain, $3.98. Grav F x Set, lined muff and 4-tailed Grav Fox Sets, with 6 tailed scarf and full-sized muff. $5.98.

Stone Marien Sets, 6-railed boa and an extra sizes mud, $3.50.

AN ADVANCE IN PRICE OF COAL

Situation Here is by No Means Encouragi g-Moderation in Temperature.

Every indication points to an advance in the price of tuel within the early fu-ture. The figures on anthracite will go up a dollar or so, and the g eat demand for soft coal may effect a charge then also. The Coal Dealers' As-sociation recently agreed upon $9 per ton, while its members were paying $2.15 at wholesale rates-$7 at the mines and $2.15 for transportation to Richmond. Few of them could keep this up long and to-day the majority of dealers are offering anthracite at $10 or even in a few cases, at $10.50. The likelihood is that if may go even higher. Quotations received here yester(ay indicate that the price at the mines has been increased to $7.50 or thereabouts and this would mean a corresponding advance here. Soft coal and wood continue at the old rates.

With the rapid consumption of the little stock on hand and the cheerless prospect of renewed supplies, the situation in which the city is placed is no enviable one. Thousands of homes are cold and chill, and there is much suffering. Families are hudling together and keeping warm as best they can. Schools and churches are in a bad plight. One or two schools are said to have closed already: others will follow their example unless others will follow their example unless there is some early relief. Comfortless cburches are growing to be no unusual thing. Some have found it necessary to suspend the weekly prayer meetings on account of scarcity of coal, or scarcity of money with which to pay the high price it commands.

money with which to pay the high price it commands.

On all hands there is a cry for relief and quick relief. From the mines nothing can be expected. The condition of the weather, therefore, is a matter of paramount interest. A moderation in the temperature would be a blessing to all.

NEEDS SUPPLIES.

The Citizen's Policy Committee is doing.

The Citizens' Relief Committee is doing the best it can, in nearty co-opera'in with the city supe intendent of Public with the city supe intendent of Profice Charities, to relieve the distress caused among the needy by the severity of the present cold weather. The car-load of coal contributed by Mr. M. O. Brook, of the Chesapeake and Ohio Coal and Coke Company, has all been distributed, and the wood supply is dwindling rapidly.

More coal and wood is hoped for, however, also clothing and blankets and money. The high pice of fuel and food is causing much suffering even among people not exactly indigent, and the really poor are in great distress. The chari-ties are being desleged by them day and night.
There is an erroneous impression preva lent about the province of the Citizens Relief Committee which 2 is desired should be corrected. It works in perfect harmony with the Department of Public Charities at the City Hall, only the lat-ter's operations are restricted by law to the city's limits while the Relief Committee can take up cases not only in the city proper, but in its suburbs. The committee has headquarters at No. 108 North Seventh Street, in charge of Mrs. Craddock, to whom the deserving may apply for aid, and it has its hard-working, though entirely voluntary, agents and investigators in every part of the
